The 25th Annual Conference of Chinese Life Scientists Society in the UK

Jeremy Bentham Room, Wilkins Building (UCL main building)
University College London, Gower Street, London WC1E 6BT, 14th September 2019

The Chinese Life Scientists Society in the UK (CLSS-UK) was founded in 1992 and has ever since been devoting itself to building up links between scientists in the UK and China in fields of life sciences and biomedical research. Today, CLSS-UK is the only organisation in the UK representing life scientists from mainland China and is currently one of the most prominent professional associations in the Chinese community.

This year we are celebrating the 25th anniversary of our Annual Conference, which will be held at University College London this September. For this occasion, we will be inviting leading scientists to give keynote speeches as well as young investigators to present their cutting-edge research findings.

Please join us this September in London to showcase your research, network with your peers and learn about the latest breakthroughs in your disciplines.
